The Midnight Dance.

A drive of sixteen miles in the cool at the little dingy blacksmith shop to have a shoe tightened or quietly quenchand now is the town well, the blackpresent, and with difficulty the shying E. Ellison, of Winnsboro, S. C. steed could be urged across the Railroad track running through the heart of the town which though hardly out of its swaddling clothes gives evidence of a vigorous manhood. We had barely inquired of the street urchin, which is inigenous to all town soil, where the "Metropolitan Hotel" was, when we were generously seized by a faithful representative of Edgefield hospitality, but now Abbeville by adoption, and made as welcome as only Edgefield knows how. A distinguished ex-member of our Bar was accustomed in his life time to say that Edgefield was a mighty good place to be born in-provided a man leaves there very early in life. This was jokingly applied, of course, to himself, and the prescription bids as fair to work as well in the present case as it did in the first. This prosperous and wide-awake town, ancient only in name, has among its ornamental attractions a well organized Social Club, composed of the young men of the town. The society event of the season to the Trojans and their friends is the annual entertainment given by this Club, where those who can dance find a "time to dance," and greatly are these occasions enjoyed. Thursday evening place designated for the celebration of the annual ball of 1884, and it may be safely said that no affair of the kind outside of a first-class city has ever been more admirably managed in all of its course these occasions arise.

The committee of arrangements, at the head of which was Mr. A. J. Davis, assisted ably by A. G. Youngblood, J. S. Harris, T. C. Lites, J. P. Jay, J. S. Burnitt and Jno. Chiles, had perfected every minutiae of their important office. The hall was brilliantly lighted and waxed to slide the clumsiest, and the music by Fishburn's band of Augusta, was equal to the strains of Orpheus' who were gracefully gliding, indulging their lovely women and for their noble lovely scene of stern valor yielding to sympathy of this community. it the ap nothing in the wide world proving smiles of the sweetest of women. Those who perchance waste the golden hours of time in fruitless invective against the devotees of the dance should not lose sight of this feature, but rather teach their boys to be brave and their girls to be pure and association in this pleasant way will be mutually inspiring.

The floor managers were Messrs, G. C. Bradley, J. M. Kennedy and Dr. W. S. Killingsworth, and the ball was opened promptly at eight o'clock with a quad-rille which was gracefully danced. "The Tuesday. next set was the Lancet," and this in turn was followed by waltzes, quadrilles, polkas, etc., until the card of twenty dances was exhausted and the pretty ones at half-past one breathed a sigh, as the last strains of Home Sweet Home died away, and the better. hall like the "nest from which the birds have flown" was deserted.

The generosity of the Trojans was unbounded and we make for the Abbeville contingent our most grateful acknowledgments and hope that they will soon give us an opportunity to reciprocate, promising faithfully that there shall be "nothing wrong with that liquor."

Committees on arrangements and invitation were appointed to make the Holiday Ball on the 29th of December a grand success. We hope to have a number of visitors in town during Christmas and this action of our young men is very commendable We know they will have a grand affair.

Death of Man and Wife.

On last Saturday night Lewis Williams and his wife died on Capt. J. H. Brooks' place, about six miles from Ninety-Six, their deaths occurring within an hour of each other. Lewis was an exceptionably good negro, paying it is said, twenty-five bales of cotton rent, and running a personal account with our merchants of about fifteen hundred dollars. Polite, thrifty, peaceable and industrious, his death was a greater loss to the agricultural interest of his neighborhood than the exodus of a car load of common negroes.

A Trip to Laurens.

We had a pleasant trip to Laurens last week, and returned by way of the new Railroad, which is open for travel as far as Waterloo in Laurens County. The track is laid to within about two and a half miles of Laurens, where work is $2 00 progressing on a heavy tressle. The new road is decidedly a good one, with a splendid track and is doing a good business. At Waterloo our friend and townsman, Josh Jones, got aboard and and bracing air of a December evening journeyed with us. He is the quarteralong a romantic road brought a couple looking well. Nearly a Fire.

About half-past twelve o'clock Saturday night the alarm of fire was raised and in a short time brought a crowd to the drug store of W. S. Cothran & Co. The room was full of smoke but a few buckets of water well directed extinguished the fire and the crowd dispersed. The origin of the fire was acciden-The stove had been cleaned out Friday and the ashes thrown into a wooden box near by. In the box the coals had smouldered until Saturday night and when discovered the fire had burnt through the box and floor and had allen into the cellar below, where in a short time it would have ignited some old boxes filled with hav and caused a considerable fire. The Press and Banner is over the drug store and the bachelor editor was thoroughly aroused.

DEATHS.

Some of our readers will remember Mai, J. K. G. Nance, who made an eloquent and soul-stirring speech at Due West, on November 1st, on the occasion of the big meeting there, and will regret to hear that he died suddenly on last was the time and Whatley Hall the Monday 3rd instant. Major Nance was a gallant officer of the 3rd S. C. Regiment, and was a brother of our fellow citizen, F. W. R. Nance and Drayton R. Nance. When we saw him in Due West he had been called thither by the details and more heartily enjoyed by the ladies, for whose special benefit of death came to him first. But now in less than a week after the death of Major Nance, we must chronicle that of his brother Drayton, who died of consumption, on Sunday, at his home near Due West. Truly death has been busy n this devoted family.

Communication.

A number of the young men of town who take pleasure in adding to the amusement of the fair sex met in the office of T. P. Cothran. Esq., Monday evening, to effect a permanent organization and perfect arrangements for a grand series of festivities during Christmas week. The meeting was called to order and Mr. H. T. Wardlaw elected Chairman. A permanent organization was then effected under the name of the "Abbeville Club," with the following officers:

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS DECIDED TO USE THE KNIFE.

My wife and daughter suffered for years with an affection of the throat, which was gradually but surely undermining their health, and was a source of anxiety to all of vs. Two of the best physicians of the city and also a surgeon were called in, and after a careful examination they decided that there was no chance of a cure unless they would consent to undergo a surgical operation. We were much opposed to the knife being used, antil all other means had been exhausted. So, we began to use different throat remedies sold at drug stores. We finally got to Brewer's Lung Restorer, and the effects were truly wonderful; and after a few bottlos had been taken they were entirely relieved of the trouble and their health fully restored. If any of my family should ever be similarly affected, I would, if necessary, travel around the world in order to get this remedy. Very respectfully, W. H. MANSFIELD, Macon, Ga.

The above testimonic I was given in 1829. Hear what the same gentleman says after an interval of four years:

"I have had no cause to change my opinion relative to the efficacy of Brewer's Lung Restorer in cases of diseased lungs. The benefit derived by my wife from its use has been permanent. My faith in its virtues is such that I cheerfully recommend it to all who are afflicted with pulmonary disease. Very respectfully, GRO. W. SIMS."

A REMARKABLE CURE!

Macon, Ga., August 15th, 1890.

With great pleasure I certify to the efficacy of that truly excellent preparation—Brewer's Lung Restorer. It has indeed proven to be a sovereign remedy in my family. For many months my wife has suffered from weak lungs, and has exportenced great difficulty in breething, so much so that she could not sleep at all at night; she also lost her appetite, and in fact, her condition was truly alarming. The Lung Restorer having been recommended by several friends. I resolve, to got it and test its virtues, which I did, and with the most happy effect. She has taken but two bottles, and the result is wonderful. She now experiences no difficulty in breathing, her appetite is good, and she is rapidly regaining her strength, and I am convinced its continued use will effect a permanent cure. I would, therefore, cheerfully recommend it to all who have weak lunes, as it cannot fall to be of great beneat to all who my giver it a trial
